Western Australian New Music Archive

The Western Australian New Music Archive is an interactive web portal presenting a collection of content related to the history of new music in Western Australia. You will find a range of material here including audio and video recordings, images, and a range of documents. The original collection has been drawn from the Tura and ABC Classic FM archives, but it is hoped that we will be able to add to this collection through the participation of those involved in the new music scene in Western Australia.

Find out more about contributing material and editing content within the archive.
